UNION CANDIDATE FOR DELEGATE, FRANCISCO PEREA.

In behalf of the young men of New Mexico.

There is a subject upon which we have often reflected when looking at things as they are found in New Mexico, but have heretofore refrained from considering them in these columns because of a natural aversion we have to the introduction of innovations upon social customs and usages which Agent for the Utahs at the Tierra Amarilla is in have been centuries in growing and maturing. As a general proposition, we hold that there is no lowing facts in relation to the Navajo depreda campago will, we presume, begin early in July. person better qualified to judge of the wants and desires and whatever is calculated to promote the welfare of a people than he who has epent an ob- made their appearance near the house of Juan servant life among that people; hence, we have, Montana and drove off seven head of cattle, which during the few years we have lived here and had they killed when they reached the mountains, and will go to fort Wingate. much to say to the public, not in any manner objected to what we have found established in the of the Conejos. experience of years and originated with the best in the same neighborhood, on the 15th May, port at the Pueblo Colorado, to be called Fort minds of the country. But we now propose to depart, for once, from this line of conduct and make some suggestions in befall of a reform which we conceive will, if effected, have a salistary influwe conceive will, if effected, have a salntary influence upon the future of the Turritory.

Our proposition is, that there should be a change in respect to the light in which the intelligent and educated young men of the Territory are viewed in connection with public affairs. There ded three men and carried off captive a boy namted in different parts of the country who are well years. They also stole three horses. qualified to fill positions of honor and profit. Their adorn places which are merely occupied from time to time by men who have no qualifications whatever. And this obtains because of the custom which prevails in our midst, of always holding the young back and restraining them from aspiring to fill public positions. This in our estimation is all wrong. It is an injustice to the young men and is a positive injury to the Territory.

Here let us reason a little upon the subject -The measure in which a man's education is moul. Navajos for their many misdeeds in the past. ded is the standard by which his usefulness will be gauged. In every branch of business and in all conditions of life this proposition holds good The merchant is educated to his business; the mechanic is trained in his art; the husbandman is taught in all that is necessary for the profitable cultivation of the soil; the physician is carefully instructed in his profession; the lawyer passes through years of toil and study before he is quali. fied to take a high stand in his profession and the priest who administers at the Holy Altar goes through a system of mental training that qualifies him to discharge the responsible duties of his vocation. But the foundation upon which all the learning in all the arts and professions is laid, is formed in youth and early manbood, when the mind is susceptible expansive and tenseious of Lessons learned by the boy are not forgotton in his manhood but he retains and profits by them at every period of his vigorous life.-They are only lost in the imbecility of extreme old age. The more thoroughly his mind is trained in the days of his youth the better prepared it is for receiving and promulgating liberal views when he is thrown upon the world and called upon to take part in its busy scenes. As already stated above, there are young men in New Mexico who have been favored with good educations. They have acquired the indiments upon which to build the good and useful superstructure. But here, it seems to us, too many are destined to stop and remain stationary for the tom before alluded to. It is the duty of parents of the stock. This letter together with one from to break up the eastom, it is the duty of young the Governor will be found published on the men to respectfully remonstrate against it, it is Spanish side of the Gazette this week. a free groversment like that of ours, to place, so fas as their sufferages at the ballot box goes, the young men of New Mexico catalde of the tramels which have been thrown around them by this use, less and, we had almost anid, senseless custom.

The coming sension of our Legislature will, perhaps, be the most important one since our Torritorial organization, and each county and district should send use aliant and best men to the Counties and, we had almost anid, senseless custom.

Why will parents incur the expense of educating their boys if they will, when the boys are grown up and ricensing late will, perhaps the design and ricensing late when the section and representatives.
